ROYAL NAVY New Admiral Of The Fleet

(Special Air Mail Service)

London, May 14.

The Admiralty announced yesterday that Admiral of the Fleet Sir Roger J. B. Keyes, Bt., G.C.B., K.C.V.O., C.M.G., D.S.O., LL.D., D.C.L., M.P., is placed on the retired list to date May 8, 1935.

The King has approved the following promotion in the vacancy created by the retirement of Admiral of the Fleet Sir Roger Keyes:—

Admiral Sir A. Ernle M. Chatfield, G.C.B., K.C.M.G., C.V.O., D.C.L., to be Admiral of the Fleet to date May 8, 1935. In consequence:—

Vice-Admiral Sir Hugh J. Tweedie, K.C.B., is promoted to Admiral; Rear-Admiral the Hon. William S. Leveson Gower, C.B., D.S.O., to Vice-Admiral; and Captain (Commodore 2nd Class) Richard H. O. Lane-Poole, O.B.E., A.D.C., R.N., to Rear-Admiral in his Majesty's Fleet to date May 8, 1935.

Vice-Admiral the Hon. William S. Leveson Gower, C.B., D.S.O., is placed on the retired list to date May 9, 1935, and in consequence Rear-Admiral Percy L. H. Noble, C.B., C.V.O., is promoted to Vice-Admiral; and Captain Bertram H. Ramsay, M.V.O., A.D.C., R.N., to Rear-Admiral in his Majesty's Fleet to date May 9.

Vice-Admiral Sir Hugh J. Tweedie, K.C.B., is to be reappointed in his appointment on promotion.

Our Naval Correspondent writes: As was explained in "The Times" yesterday, the retirement of Admiral of the Fleet Sir Roger Keyes takes place upon his completing five years on the active list of that rank. In accordance with expectation, the vacancy for a baton is filled by Admiral Sir Ernle Chatfield, First Sea Lord of the Admiralty, who has been at the head of the Admiralty list since the promotion of Admiral of the Fleet Sir Reginald Tyrwhitt in July last. The other promotions and retirements follow the usual Service routine.

Sir Roger Keyes is 62½ years of age, and has spent 50 years on the active list of the Navy, which he joined as a cadet in July, 1885. He was Commander of Submarines when the War began, and commanded these craft in the Heligoland and other actions. In the Dardanelles campaign he was Chief of Staff, and his energetic and able service there was rewarded with a C.M.G. He was promoted rear-admiral in April, 1917, while commanding H.M.S. Centurion, Grand Fleet, and afterwards served as Director of Plans at the Admiralty until appointed to command the Dover Patrol in January, 1918. His conduct of the expeditions to Zeebrugge and Ostend is known to all, and for this he was created K.C.B. Since the War he has commanded the Battle-Cruiser Squadron, has been Deputy Chief of the Naval Staff, Commander-in-Chief in the Mediterranean, and Commander-in-Chief at Portsmouth. In 1932 he was made Honorary Colonel-Commandant of the Portsmouth Division, Royal Marines; and in 1933 was elected M.P. for Portsmouth (North).

Vice-Admiral the Hon. W. S. Leveson Gower will be 55 on July 11, and has had 41 years' service. In the late War he commanded destroyer divisions in the Comet, the Marston, and the Scott, for which he was mentioned in dispatches, awarded the D.S.O., and promoted to captain. He was Chief of Staff at the Nore in 1924-25, and afterwards commanded H.M.S. Cornwall in China. Promoted to flag rank in 1929, he was Rear-Admiral, and Commanding Officer, Coast of Scotland.

H.M.S. Faulknor, the flotilla leader, which was launched from the yard of Messrs. Yarrow & Co., Scotstoun, in June last year will leave the Clyde on May 24 for Portsmouth, where she will arrive the following day. On May 28 she will be commissioned with the crew.

SCOTLAND MUST HELP In Event Of War

(Special Air Mail Service)

London, May 16.

The Duke of Montrose parried with several young Scottish Nationalists at the annual conference of the party in Glasgow on Saturday over the party's attitude in the event of an international war.

A resolution before the conference urged that the party should stand united in opposing any attempt to draft the manhood of Scotland into an international war until such times as Scotland had a Parliament which would deal jointly with England on matters of defence.

The Duke of Montrose, almost immediately the resolution had been spoken of, said that he did not quite like the resolution that they should keep out of every war until they had "Home Rule." He admitted, however, that it was unsatisfactory that the Scottish nation should be drawn into a war without being able to express freely beforehand its opinion in the matter.

What Next War Means
"The next war will be entirely different to anything we have had before," said His Grace. "It will not merely result in soldiers and sailors being drawn into it, but every person in the country will be involved. It will mean that our towns and cities will be laid waste and in ruin by every devilish means."

It was inconceivable, he said, that one part of the United Kingdom should operate in opposition to another part. Let that happen and the United Kingdom was finished; the Empire was finished. The United Kingdom must work together, and Scotland, as a nation, ought to have the right to express her views and carry some weight in the councils of the nations. The only way to put that right was to get self-government so that they could express their opinions through some federal body.

The Power of London
Mr. A. Lamont, who seconded the resolution, said that in the event of another war London would not only control their bodies but she would control their souls as well. She would have absolute power to put every Scotsman in compulsory military service to fight for the benefit of a few financiers in London. Scotland could not afford to go into another war with England; it meant absolute submission. That, of course, did not mean that they were not prepared in the future to send members to the League of Nations and co-operate with other nations in maintaining peace.

After more lively discussion the conference adopted an amended resolution which deplored the present drift of Europe towards war, a fact which made it all the more urgent for the Scottish people to demand their right to express their views on defence and international questions through a Scottish Parliament.

H.M.S. Campbell, and will leave for Portland on June 8.

The Faulknor and eight destroyers of the Fearless class were included in the 1932 programme. They will replace the vessels at present comprising the 6th Destroyer Flotilla, Home Fleet, commanded by Capt. M. L. Clarke, D.S.C., in the Campbell. The latter will join the Maintenance Reserve at Rosyth on completion of a refit.

Yesterday the Admiralty notified the following appointments: Surgeon Lt.-Comdr. (D.) T. E. Breveter, to Victory, for R.M. Infirmary, Eastney, May 9.
Lt.-J. W. T. Halliday, to Cygnet, May 1.
Wt.-Engr. R. D. Seabrook, to Kent, undated.

NEW SUMMER FASHIONS

Ascot Colours The Spotted Effects

There is much to be said for the all-black toilette. It has a distinction all its own, and a reglet may be brought in by coloured jewellery. Pink crystal and coral are good with black chiffon, —so are chunks of Jade. Pearls never fail to appeal. Diamonds, on the other hand, are better with a background of white or paler shades.

For cinema and theatre wear, what is more effective than black lace (dull and dire) or dead black chiffon. A bright moire or gleaming black satin sash can bring in the sheen. The complete black evening toilette is and should ever be in the wardrobe of the chic woman.

The rather fussy, decorative glove, bizarre bow, fantastically large collar and exaggerated sleeve are amusing, but not really smart. The reason is, of course, that they are apt to become too popular. Quiet, peaceful modes have their own way of proclaiming the exclusive note.

made up in bolero fashion with the pleated white crepe front, tying with a matching jabot. To complete this toilette was a small Watteau shaped hat of white straw with the crown made of green and white wings.

A clever tunic of grey silky crepe woven with a white and grey spot was placed over a slim quilted grey taffeta underslip in another model. A large cape collar and the turn-back gauntlet cuffs of the three-quarter sleeves were made of the quilted silk. The hat brim of grey had a crown of grey and white ostrich. There was also an original parasol made in the curiously woven spotted fabric.

Gloves, shoes and handbags were to be of grey suede.

Possibly the majority of flowered hats will be worn by the debutantes in large leghorn shapes now that leghorn is in all colours. A posy of the same flowers will be tucked into the ribbon sash in such shades that may be chosen to relieve the whiteness of plain and pin spotted organdie. The old point d'esprit pattern is another familiar favourite that has come into the muslin category. It is charming in colours if kept over a foundation of the same. Grey muslin is uncommon, especially when worn with a big leghorn shape in blue, covered with many shaded blue flowers and a sash or posy of the same. Green muslin is good with yellow.

New stiffened laces in small patterns of white will have skirts cut very full and touching the ground for Ascot. A fairly long slim cape is a becoming finish, particularly if the hat be on the longer side. No doubt the thrust-forward styles of brims will be worn. The halo-hat cannot be ignored. Some of the most original and chic halo shapes are in all black, and of tulle and lace cre, with a crown of feather fronds.

THE ALL-BLACK HAT

There is never any doubt as to the inimitable chic of the all-black hat with the all-white dress. The reverse side of the picture strikes an exclusive note this season in the all-black frock, with possibly a touch of white near the neck. I mean the type of frock composed of some ethereal lace-like fabric. This, with a white hat with crown of all-white flowers or feathers, is a charming and always successful alliance.

The delightful spotted lawns and linens have a special attraction. Like stripes, brightly coloured spots on a pale background in linen give a cheerful touch.

Quietly smart are the strictly tailored linen or shantung suits in grey beige and white, the coat having a plain black velvet collar. For hot climates a striped shantung collar with a plain silk is considered a more practical proposition. The short tailored skirt may be a little full, or else kept tight and pleated near the hem. Plain hand work in linen for the lawn blouse or waistcoat worn with the linen suit.

THE COLOURS

In the matter of colours, for example, April proved the craze for red, but already the brighter tones in red are becoming much more subdued.

Cool greens and greys will be seen for warmer days ahead. As a contrast to white, nothing is more refreshing than the green range. Grey is a dignified and very special combination with white. Both shades are to be featured in Ascot collections. There is a lovely model in white crepe that has a tiny ivy-leaf design in two tones of green (dark and light). I have seen the lace

ROUND THE SHOPS

LANE CRAWFORD

Lane Crawford have a very fine selection of the Gossard line of beauty designed to meet the needs of every type of figure, and for wearing on all occasions in the wonder elastic with Gossard. It is light and comfortable but never ceases to give support, and it is economical because it will outwear other elastics, which is specially useful in a hot climate. The prices are from $12.75 and $3.75 which is very reasonable.

MAIZEE'S

Maizee's are expediting a shipment of hats and summer frocks on Saturday by the President Jefferson which of course will be the latest styles. They recently have had a shipment of Rubinstein's beauty preparations, and especially to be recommended are the freckle cream, sun burn cream, and the sunburn lotion.

RIVELLE

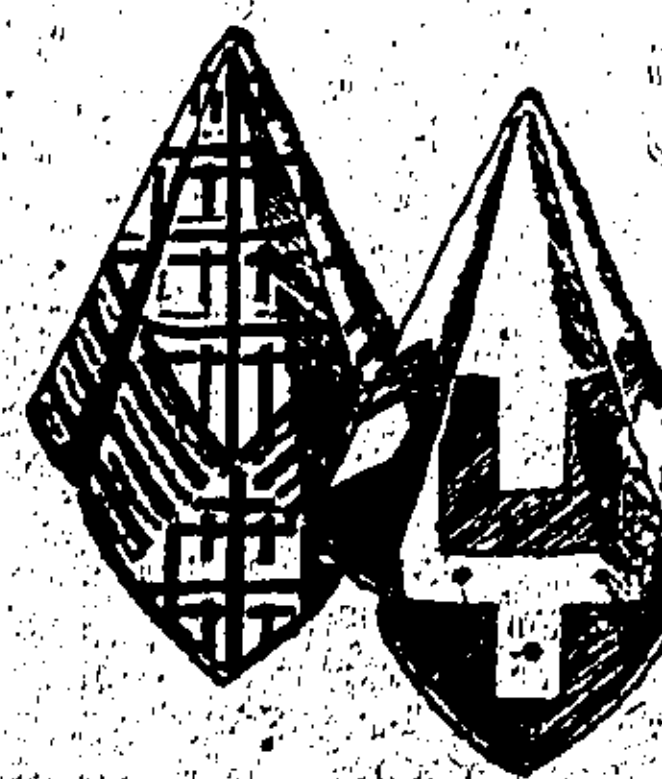

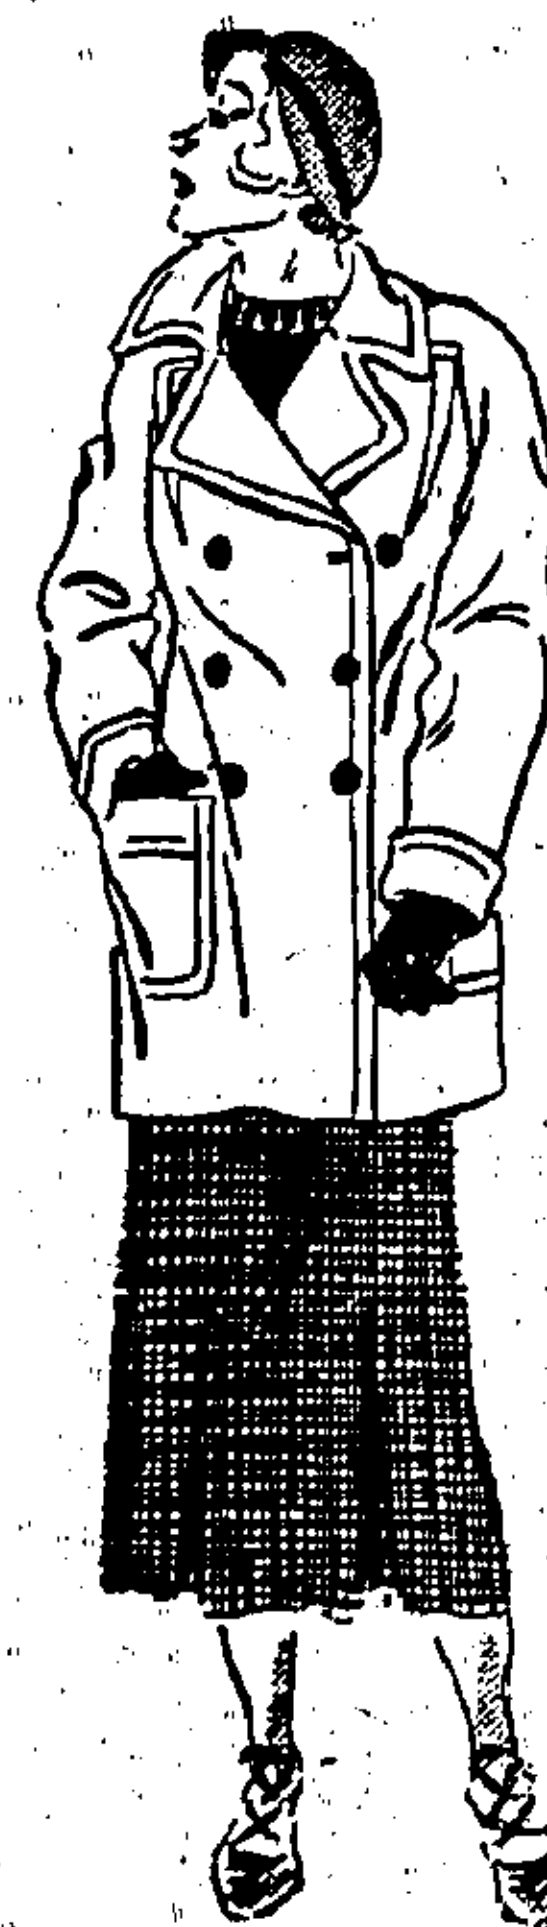

Can be seen some wonderfully pretty summer frocks in the latest styles and materials in great variety. An early call to avoid disappointment is to be strongly recommended.

IMPORTANCE OF CURLS

Every season the artists of the hairdressing world visit Paris to be inspired by new ideas and designs. They invariably return with at least one startling suggestion, which is seldom seen apart from on the wax models in their windows, but whose influence gradually makes itself felt.

This Jubilee season, however, there has arrived a new fashion in hairdressing which is at once so attractive and wearable that it has been adopted immediately by many women of all ages. This is the definite return to a modified style of Edwardian hairdressing in which the hair is curled upwards from the neck—the curls mounting and giving added height to their wearer by their clustering arrangement on the top of the head.

Side by side with this innovation there is the Mid-Victorian revival of the "Little Women" type of hairdressing, in which there is a curled fringe—or "bang." It requires a very definite type to wear this to advantage. Katherine Hepburn—who wears this low-on-the-brow fringe in the "Little Minister" film is excellently suited to it, but comparatively few people are.

For the very young there appears another Victorian fashion in the form of a "Bubbles" mass of curls. The curled head of hair can, however, be worn with great distinction by the older woman, as is exemplified by Miss Mabel Terry Lewis whose beautiful grey hair is dressed in this play "Frolic Wind."

SUMMER

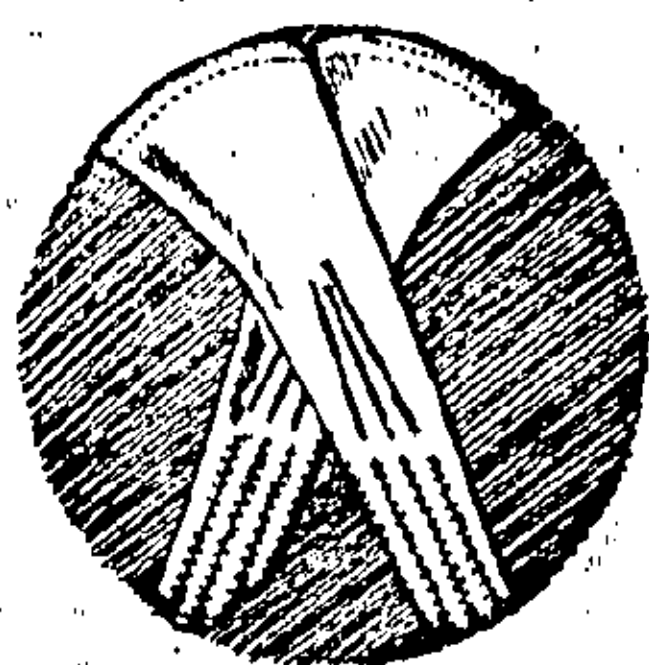

PARIS FASHIONS

The Jubilee Reception At The Embassy

Among the dresses worn at the reception given at the British Embassy in Paris to celebrate the King's Silver Jubilee was one in tea-rose pink satin figured with a flower design in grey-black. It was gently moulded to the figure and slim in the skirt; a long train fell loose from one shoulder which could be caught up over the arm. A very simple white crepe dress was worn with a bunch of deep damask red roses. Another, in grey satin, was becoming to a lady with grey hair. A short silver-grey and blue taffetas dress had a full skirt and tight bodice with a bertha and pink flowers. Black net and lace dresses were worn with diamond ornaments. There were collures of flat curls, loose waving, and rippling locks shaped becomingly to the head.

Jean Patou is showing a half-season collection of great distinction. There is femininity of style disciplined by good tailoring. The morning and afternoon clothes are all simple in line; coats and skirts with "blouses," and dresses with capes or boleros. A dove-grey crepe de Chine dress has a cape of the same material carried straight across the shoulders in front and draped to fasten on one side and to fall in a long point behind. This is Patou's new cape, of which there are many expressions, differing slightly in the way they are draped. The skirts are straight and reasonably short, some are pleated others have a long tunic to make a double skirt. Short sleeves draped to fall below the elbow are usual. Pockets trim both jackets and skirts and, again, the trimming may be fine gauging or plisse. The fullness in a tailored skirt is let into the back; deep inverted pleats which fall open into fan formation as they near the hem.

LATEST SUMMER COLOURS

Spinach-Green: Cinnamon With Pink

Spinach is a new colour, and a change from the early tender greens of spring. This is a lovely shade especially in certain fabrics worn for blouses and hats. It has an unusual air, and is good as a relief to black. I have just seen a trim black tailored suit. The hip-length coat buttoned almost to the throat, with a small military collar of black velvet. Peeping out in front was a blouse and folded scarf of spinach-green taffeta worn with a tiny tilted picture hat of fabric straw, in the same colour, enveloped in shaded green ostrich feathers. An umbrella was of the green, but the other accessories were all-black.

Clothes this season are out of the ordinary. Well-dressed women now predominate at any big social gathering. I think it is largely millinery that has altered the whole standard. The dressy hat of to-day is a thing of charm and beauty and a great help to good appearance. In Edwardian days there were many elegant exponents of feathers and flowers, but even at their best, these were apt to suggest a note of age and arrogance that to-day would be voted aggressive and bad style. The great turning of the modern artist in dresses and hats is to convey that baffling touch of simplicity to the most complicated and intricate creation.

REVIVAL OF BROWN

Among popular colours, browns in all grades have revival of success for the mid-season. It is essentially an autumn favourite, but under new guises is having a special success. Like spinach-green, brown is delightful in taffeta and in crepe. Dark brown silk is good for the tailored summer suit. An ultra-plain silk suit in a fairly dark shade, relieved with white or colour, is always pleasing on sunless summer days.

Another alliance in tones peculiar to the Empire age is a dark brown crepe suit worn with a striped cinnamon, cream and pink taffeta blouse and a cinnamon and pink shaded feathered hat. Pale tomato and a dark claret look well allied with dove-in-the-mist blue, but such combinations can only be successful in rich, soft and rather subdued tints of their special shades, and in beautiful fabrics.

The variety in styles enables all sorts of materials to achieve success, but there is a marked change in fabric surfaces. The strictest tailored tweeds can be woven so subtly that though they appear to be severe, in reality the wool-weave is of the softest. The modern way is to tailor the new crepe, satin, and wool-silk combinations as easily as serge.

TAILORED SILK SUITS

Crêpes and shantungs are generally tailored or used for semi-tailored ensembles. A simple dress is completed either with a three-quarter swagger seamed coat or a neat fitting short one. White shantung is good for the classic coat and skirt worn with a coloured striped pink blouse and whady straw dîre hat of pink with ribbon bows of the stripe. These suits are good for home, travel, town or country as occasion demands, the principal points being not to mix accessories or mistaken shades.

Oatmeal is another useful and cool summer colour. In hopsack and taffeta it tailors well and is especially good with beige or white accessories. Now that bags, gloves and shoes are of such significance, it is essential to choose them carefully, and if possible with a view to using them with several suits. The reviving of the brownbeige range, is all to the good, for these shades are easily matched.

All sorts of tones are now woven into the striped muslins. Real Indian muslins are interpreted with gold and silver as well as many coloured weaves. Such alliances require careful handling, or these are apt to resemble the best curtain! They will appear at Ascot, mixed with quilted silk and exotic trimmings. Personally, I think they are prettier for girls evening dress with added touches of silver or gold.

Picture-hats which will reach the summit of their glory at Ascot seem better in sympathy with the plainer mouselines-de-sole in pale colours or bright organdy with contrasting shades. Taffeta in pale-Romney-blue and pastel pink worn with legbon colour-ed hats and lacy crepe shapies, sparingly decorated with flowers and feathers will recall the splendour of earlier Ascot days, but treated in the new simple style.

THE DUCHESS OF KENT

Sets Another Fashion

In a far-off town of Northern China native women weavers toiled laboriously to complete a work of art. Little knowing that it would grace Royal Jubilee procession.

For it was in this way that the superb picture hat worn by the Duchess of Kent during the Jubilee drive, had its beginning. It was the genius of a Parisian designer which evolved the shape and supplied the final inspiration of the sweeping ostrich feathers which encircle the brim.

SO BECOMING

Tilted at a piquant angle and utterly dissimilar to the small hats the beautiful Duchess popularised a few months ago this creation has proved the breath-taking subject of conversation among most women ever since Monday.

Its admirers can accept it on the authority of Mr. Victor Webb of Walter Webb and Baker, the well-known British hat manufacturers, that the large picture hat will be worn within the next few weeks—probably days—by every woman who cherishes a reputation for ultra-smart chic.

"My designers and I," said Mr. Webb "watching the procession, at once realised that the Duchess was wearing the Hat of the Immediate Future. We breathed a sign of relief that she had chosen a large hat."

"Few people will disagree that a picture hat is becoming to most types of faces, and makes its wearer look younger."

"Immediately we got back to the studio we had a conference, and finally came to agreement as to the exact shade of this hat and its dimensions."

"We were, of course, aided by newspaper photographs."

Hundreds of workers are now feverishly turning out the new "Marina" hat.

The hat is made from Shantung Baku material, of pale beige colour, woven as fine as very fine linen.

It is trimmed with uncurled ostrich feathers, of a slightly darker beige.

"This material," it was explained, "is woven by native women in the Northern Chinese town of Chefoo. It is a laborious task and it occupies one woman fourteen days to complete the original hat, which is later to be shaped in accordance with the ideas of the designer."

So, by the time Ascot arrives, it can be taken for granted that nearly every exquisitely-gowned visitor to the royal enclosure will be wearing the new "Marina" hat.

NEW LINENS

Fashion Interest Acquired

Linen is one of the most interesting of this year's summer materials. From being an unimportant and dowdy fabric worn reluctantly for tennis and the country generally it has now acquired a fashion interest.

Its new surface, which in some instances has all the appearance of a worsted, is its chief claim to attention because it lessens the tendency to crease, and where there are creases the slubs and knobs conceal them.

There are coat weights and dress weights in the new linens, and the heavier fabrics for tailored clothes show some unusual raised surfaces. A reversible linen, tweed in a check design is good in navy and white and in navy and natural, different sides showing a light ground with dark square and a dark ground with a light square. This is a pleasing material whose smart reverse gives plenty of scope for trimming pockets, revers, collar, and belt. Another linen, tweed that is in a coating weight is a semi-diagonal knot weave, the diagonals being in a range of colours and the knobs being in natural. An attractive linen also with a knot weave has a piqué stripe and is in a weight suitable for sports dresses or suits; it is made in both white and natural. A wide chevron in a pure linen slub gives interest to a material for a suit.

Some of the new linens have an admixture of cotton or wool. A herring-bone suiting linen in navy is being made up with a striped coloured top in a mixture of cotton and linen. A cream material in a herring-bone knot weave is a half-and-half mixture of linen and wool and has a pleasing handle. It makes tennis or cruising coats and suits.

In linen dress materials those made from Sandringham flax are notable, and are softer to the touch than ordinary linen. There is one in a new texture with a crocheted effect that is excellent and is particularly pleasing in the Jubilee colours and in Marina-green and in natural. The selvedge has a printed mark to show that it is made from flax grown on the King's estate at Sandringham. Many slub textures are to be found in dress linens, and in a thick soft slub there is a linen in a new tone of rose-beige and in dark brown and in natural.

There are also some new printed dress linens that are allied with plain colour linen suitings as tops; some of these are printed in one-colour spots on natural grounds and others are in two-colour cluster spots also on natural grounds. Another two-colour printing has a mixed stripe and spot effect, the stripe being in a double diagonal. In this there are such mixtures as red and navy, brown and green, and green, and green and orange, all on natural grounds. A hand block-printed linen for cruising has little flags and ships in colour on an oatmeal ground. Another fancy linen has coloured ring spots woven on cream grounds and an oatmeal crash linen has a pattern of raised embroidered spots in four colours.

A jacquard linen and cotton mixture has a complicated woven design in diagonal and straight stripes with alternate groups of spots. Another mixture is a slub suiting in wool and linen, the slub being in colour on a natural ground. Checks are also seen in linens this summer. One of the most striking is a linen suiting with all the appearance of a worsted cloth with a large over-check; this is particularly good in a navy and red overcheck. A slub linen and art silk mixture gets a curious effect by having a woven single colour spot on a natural ground.

MID-SEASON MODES

Touches of orange nasturtium and vivid green make excellent splashes of colour on black afternoon and evening gowns by Jean Patou, who also favours the red camellia for corsage and hat trimmings from time to time. In one instance these change to vivid green posed in a straight line from one shoulder-strap of black on a black and white fancy striped gown which follows his new trend in caped lines.

This new caped movement is used on many single-straped de-coulette gowns, and performs duty as a drape when dropped from a high-necked position. It also makes an admirable asset to afternoon frocks, and has a one-sided flat effect that wraps round the corsage somewhat in the manner of a shawl. An inconspicuous clip adjusts them to the figure.

Thatched discs of natural-coloured straw across the front waistbelt strike an interesting note on a jacket and backless dress ensemble worn with one of the new coolie-shaped Talbot berets. This, like the ensemble, is of brown linen, and shows a miniature thatching on top.

Reeds, too, in dainty bundles are slotted through to perch up and down at intervals on a green leather belt on a banana-yellow frock, worn with a plain brule shady straw hat simply trimmed by a ribbon of green.

A youthful afternoon trend brings the "bell-boy" fitted bolero jacket back into focus, smartened up in the new quilted white pique with elbow-length sleeves and navy or black frocks. A grey afternoon frock with shawl cape line is designed to go with a red felt shady hat, the red which is almost as dark as night.

All who look well in tailored suits should follow the floral patterned crepe and maroon summer trend on occasions. Jean Patou designs them to go with which handkerchief linen blouses showing frilled jabots down the front. Robert Piguet uses them for the tailored jacket and frock with open-work back or one that is meticulously high.

New dinner and evening gowns from the same house tend to long straight tubular skirts from black or navy cloxy taffeta. They are slightly wider when given a short train. A gown in the latter category looks charming in brown and white small checked organza, a brown velvet ribbon belt corresponding with a bow tie adorning the turn-down high collar of a backless corsage.

CINEMA TRADE NOTICES

"ROBERTA"

The year's gayest and most colourful musical romance comes to the screen when Irene Dunne, Fred Astaire and Ginger Rogers open in RKO-Radio's film version of the Broadway hit, "Roberta," showing at the King's Theatre.

Featuring the singing of Miss Dunne, the dancing and singing of Astaire and Miss Rogers, and a brilliant display of feminine fashions by a regiment of beautiful mannequins, the production offers sparkling entertainment of tremendous appeal.

Melody and dance numbers and the lavish fashion displays all are woven logically into a fast-moving, thoroughly plausible story which combines tender romance with gay comedy.

Love interest centres about Miss Dunne and Randolph Scott, although there is more than a suggestion of romance in the battle of wits between Astaire and Miss Rogers and their teaming of dance wizardry.

The story revolves about the comedy-rich situation of an All-American football player falling heir to a fashionable Paris gown shop. The girl hero and his band leader pal get the world of fashion agog, the hearts of the mademoiselles a-twitter, and the feet of the Parisians aflame during the course of their hectic adventures.

Jerome Kern, king of musical comedy composers, wrote the music for the screen production. In addition to the original songs, among them "Smoke Gets in Your Eyes," from the stage show, new Kern songs written especially for the film, are presented.

THE 13TH GUEST

Borrowed from Warner Bros. for a leading role in the Monogram production, Lyle Talbot, well-known leading man, presents one of the finest performances of his sensational career in "The Thirteenth Guest," Monogram mystery melodrama, opening to-day at the Alhambra Theatre.

Young Talbot, who has played important roles in "Love Is a Racket," "Strangers in Town," "The Purchase Price," "Three on a Match" and "Big City Blues," since the start of his brief-screen career, was born in Pittsburgh, Pa., and educated in Omaha, Nev. Coming of a professional family, he went on the stage at an early age and has appeared in stock from Portland, Maine, to Oakland, Calif.

In "The Thirteenth Guest" he plays the outstanding role of the debonair private investigator whose clever solution of the plot furnishes the climax for one of the weirdest and most unusual murder mysteries of the year.

Starring Ginger Rogers, the cast also includes J. Farrell MacDonald, Frances Rich, Irene Rich's beautiful daughter, and Eddie Phillips, James Eagles, Erville Alderson, Robert Klein and Crawford Kent.

Fashions for the pictures were created by Bernard Newman, internationally known couturier. William Selter directed the production, which includes in its cast such well known favourites as Helen Westley, Victor Varconi, Claire Dodd, Ferdinand Munier and Adrian Rosley.

CASINO MURDER CASE

In "The Casino Murder Case," the next change at the Queen's Theatre, Paul Lukas, featured player of such successes as "Little Women" and "The Fountain," brings to the screen a third distinctive portrayal of Philo Vance, S.S. Van Dine's famous fictional detective.

Rather than present a purely dramatic mystery, Producer Lucien Hubbard has chosen to make the newest Philo Vance thriller an unusually humorous yet mystifying story with rapid fire action and sparkling dialogue suggestive of the tempo of "The Thin Man." That the new picture, has its funny moments is assured by the fact, that the inimitable Allison Skipworth is prominently cast as the dominating "Mrs. Llewellyn," around whom much of the action circles. Others who have prominent roles include Donald Cook, Rosalind Russell, Ted Healy, Isabel Jewell, Louise Fazenda and Arthur Byron.

The new Van Dine's baffler concerns the latest adventure of Philo Vance and his unusual solution of a series of poison mysteries that envelop the wealthy and eccentric Llewellyn family. Vance receives an anonymous letter directing him to watch young Lynn Llewellyn, whose life is in danger, at a notorious gambling casino. After drinking water supplied by his uncle, Klunk, the casino owner, Lynn collapses. At the same hour Lynn's wife dies of poisoning in Mrs. Llewellyn's home. Vance discounts a suicide note found at her side. A little later, Doris Reed, the old lady's companion, becomes unconscious after drinking water from a carafe intended for the elder Mrs. Llewellyn. Because the victims were made perilously ill after drinking water, Vance perceives a water motif running through the case. He learns that Kinkaid and Dr. Kane, fiancé of Lynn's sister, are experimenting with "heavy water" believed to be poisonous.

With Doris, who has recovered, Vance is trapped in Kinkaid's secret laboratory but is later released by Kinkaid. Lynn's mother found dead with a gunshot wound, has left a note admitting she has engineered the poison plot.

THE SILVER STREAK

Showing At The King's

With the magnificent and only Diesel-motored streamline train in America as the background, "The Silver Streak" now showing at the King's Theatre provides unusual, entertainment as well as thrills.

In brief, the story deals with history making, non-stop cross-country run of the Silver Streak from Chicago to Boulder Dam, and revolves around a thrilling sequence wherein the streamline train is interwoven with a drama of modern life which has its climax in a race for death.

Sally Blane, Charles Starrett, Hardie Albright, and William Farnum are in the cast, and they acquitted themselves well.

Vance also discredits this "confession" declaring the old lady was trying to conceal her son. Lynn traps Vance and Doris in the deserted casino, planning to kill them because they know too much. He boastfully tells them everything.

From thence the "Casino Murder Case" races to an exciting

NAUGHTY MARIETTA

Musical Treat At The Queen's

Music lovers of the Colony were treated to an extraordinarily fine entertainment at the Queen's Theatre yesterday, when "Naughty Marietta" opened its season. Jeanette MacDonald in the title role, takes the part of a princess who flees to Louisiana, the new Colony in America to escape a marriage with the repulsive Don Carlos de Braganza, a Spanish grandee. Her adventures on the voyage, her meeting with young Captain Warrington of the Yankee Scouts and her subsequent adventures maintain one's interest throughout.

The picture was directed by W. S. Van Dyke and Miss MacDonald is supported by Nelson Eddy, a newcomer to the screen, as Capt. Warrington and other members of the cast worthy of mention are Frank Morgan, Douglas Dumbrille, Walter Kingsford, Cecelia Parker, Elsa Lanchester, Harold Huber and Edward Brophy.

Besides retaining all the beautiful music of the Operetta of which Miss MacDonald and Eddy make the most, a delightful blend of drama and romance, makes this one of the outstanding pictures of the year which should certainly not be missed on any account.—N. A. E.

BRIGHT EYES

You are not going to see Shirley Temple in person nor hear her on the radio, if the noise laid down by the child's parents and officials of the Fox Film Corporation is adhered to. You will never see her in a newspaper, either for Shirley, whose latest film, "Bright Eyes," will come to the Star Theatre to-day is to the kept a feature screen personality and nothing else—all as a safeguard to her health.

Within recent months requests have been made for Shirley to act as queen of a county fair, to address 10,000 children in a public park, to open a flower show, to appear before women's clubs, breakfast clubs, and dealers' conventions; to be photographed with new refrigerators, tractors, railway trains, crates of lettuce and groups of visitors to Southern California.

The child was sought for a great relief drive, to appear with notable of the land at the Nation's capital. She might have opened the great State Fair at Sacramento or the Los Angeles County Fair at Pomona. When they were arranging a great luncheon at a leading hotel to celebrate the successful movement to sustain and perpetuate the Los Angeles Philharmonic Orchestra, an attempt was made to have little Shirley appear as an honoured guest. All of the offers were gratefully acknowledged by Shirley's parents and by studio executives, but politely declined.

Shirley was offered a huge sum to make ten personal appearances in theatres in New York and other large cities. In connection with this same offer came one for a series of short radio talks by the child which would have netted an equally large amount of money.

MONTH CARLO NIGHTS

"Monte Carlo Nights," the Monogram feature which comes to the Alhambra Theatre on Sunday, with Mary Brain and John Darrow in the leading roles, is the screen version of "Numerous of Death," from the pen of that master portrayer of mystery thrillers, E. Phillips Oppenheim.

Following the novel very closely throughout, the story concerns itself with the desperate attempt on the part of Larry Sturgis, erstwhile playboy, who is suddenly faced with the charge of murder—the murder of Brandon, owner of a gambling house.

Sent to jail, Sturgis eludes his guards on the way, cleverly causes them to believe that he is dead and starts on his search for the guilty party. His only clue are four numbers of a roulette table, and with this clue to work on he visits all the famous gambling establishments in the world in an effort to find the murderer.

It is only natural that he visits Monte Carlo, perhaps the most famous of them all, and it is there that the climax comes in a thrilling encounter with the murderer, who is aided in his attempt to escape by Blondie Roberts, his sweetheart.

The part of Blondie is very adeptly enacted by Astrid Allyn, who was brought out to Hollywood about three years ago under contract to M.-G.-M., from the New York stage where she had been featured for six seasons.

"Monte Carlo Nights" was adapted for the screen by Norman Houston and directed by William Nigh, under the supervision of Paul Malvern.

YOUNG WOMAN STABBED

Before Mr. Macfadyen at Central Magistracy yesterday, Wong Tai was charged with wounding or causing grievous bodily harm to Yu Sze Mui on March 27 at 225, Jaffe Road, Wanchai.

Inspector Elston prosecuting, stated that defendant was arrested in the Hau Tak wharf on May 14 when he was coming back from Canton in custody.

Dr. A. D. Wong, assistant medical officer of the Government Civil Hospital said that the complainant, Yu Sze Mui was admitted to the hospital on March 27, suffering from four stab-wounds, and that her undergarment was soaked with blood. She was detained for over five weeks. Apart from having scars, witness did not think there was any permanent injury.

Dr. A. V. Greaves, Government Bacteriologist, identified the scissor blades as those given to him for examination and said that he found there were blood-stains.

Yu Sze Mui, the complainant, stated that she returned to Hong Kong from America the year before last and stayed at 225, Jaffe Road, 2nd floor. She was not in good terms with her husband, Chan Sing Shun, though he was always asking her for money. Recently he asked her to sell the house and give him the money which she refused.

On March 27 when she was going up the stairs, a man came dashing down. The man pushed and stabbed her in the abdomen with a scissor blade. Another man was also dashing down the stairs and stabbed her in several places. The two men after stabbing her threw away the scissor blades and bolted.

After further evidence had been given, the case was adjourned till this afternoon.

FUGITIVE DISCHARGED

The case against Yeung Kin Ping whose extradition was sought by the Chinese authorities in Shanghai for alleged embezzlement of the sum of $34,000 from the Postal Remittance and Savings Bank there in 1932 was concluded at Central Magistracy yesterday when His Worship (Mr. Schofield) discharged the fugitive on the ground of insufficient evidence.

Mr. J. A. Fraser, Assistant Attorney General, instructed by Mr. W. Lockhart-Smith, Assistant Crown Solicitor, appeared for the Crown, while the fugitive was represented by Mr. F. C. Jenkin, K.C., who was instructed by Mr. G. S. Hugh-Jones, of Messrs. Wilkinson and Grist.

Mr. Fraser, at the outset of yesterday's proceedings, applied on behalf of the Chinese authorities in Shanghai for a further remand of the case. Asked by His Worship as to whether there was any promise of further evidence from the authorities concerned, Mr. Fraser answered in the negative.

His Worship then decided to discharge the fugitive.

HAWKER FINED FOR INTIMIDATION

Before Mr. Macfadyen at Central Magistracy yesterday, Wu Cheong, an unlicensed hawker, was fined $30, in default of one month's hard labour, for intimidating Cheng Ming, a coolie, by force and threats in order to prevent him from carrying out tasks which he was legally entitled to do.

Acting S.B. Inspector Tyler said that at about noon on Wednesday complainant was engaged by the police to carry stalls belonging to unlicensed hawkers who had absconded to avoid arrest, to the Police Station. After bringing the stalls to the Station and being paid, the complainant returned to Queen Victoria Street.

Defendant then engaged him to carry two stalls, which he said were in Tung Tak Lane. When he got there he found five other men who abused and assaulted him for assisting the Police and not them, who were unlicensed hawkers. They further threatened him and as soon as he got away he went to the Police Station and reported this to the Police. A detective was immediately sent down and defendant was arrested.

Acting Sub-Inspector Tyler asked that a serious view be taken as this form of intimidation was very common in the Central District.

ASSAULT ON WOMEN

Before Mr. Thomson at the Kowloon Magistracy yesterday afternoon, five coolies, Tsang Yui Wan, 28, So Muk Sim, 24, To Chuen, 33, Chan Kwai, 24, and So Chun, 23 faced charges of indecent assault on Chung Ng Mui, 22 and Ma Tai 16, both married women.

The women stated in evidence that on May 18 they went to collect their wages at the second defendant's residence, for whom they were working as earth coolies, but after remaining there for a short while the five defendants left the house and second defendant told the two women to follow them to another house where they would be paid, but apparently they were led towards the Kowloon City Rifle Range, where, they alleged, they were indecently assaulted by the five men.

All the defendants denied the charges, and the case was adjourned until to-day pending further evidence, when Mr. Thomson will give his decision.

Inspector Chester Woods prosecuted.

TEAR GAS PISTOLS CONFISCATED

Mr. Wynne-Jones at Central Magistracy yesterday made an order for the confiscation of two pencil tear gas pistols and 57 rounds of ammunition when two Chinese seamen were brought before him and pleaded guilty to the possession of the weapons and ammunition.

The charges against the defendants were:—Cheung Yuk, possession of two tear gas pistols and one round of ammunition on May 26, Cheung See, possession of 56 rounds of ammunition.

Detective Sergeant Franklin, prosecuting, stated that both defendants were arrested on information. They were met by detectives in a tea-house, and, when searched, the weapons and ammunition were found in their pockets. These pistols when fired made a report, and if discharged close to the face would permanently blind anyone.

THEFT OF PULLEY

For the theft of an iron pulley, valued at $10, from the s.s. Wong Ping Yai, Chan Hoi, formerly of Loreto Marques, in Portuguese South Africa, was sentenced to three months' hard labour by Mr. W. Schofield at Central Magistracy yesterday.

Defendant pleaded guilty and said that he found the pulley lying on the deck, so he picked it up.

Inspector Hourihan, stated that about 12 noon on Wednesday defendant was seen coming off the wharf by a district watchman.

Another case of attempting to travel on a ferry launch without payment of fare, resulted in the appearance of Lo Pat, aged 24, unemployed, before Mr. Macfadyen at Central Magistracy yesterday. Defendant was just boarding the Mongkok launch at the Vehicular Ferry wharf when he was arrested. He had in his possession a ticket belonging to his brother, Lo Wing Kan, a student. Defendant was bound over in the sum of $25 to be of good behaviour for a period of one year.

Ngan Tuen, unemployed, was charged before Mr. Macfadyen at Central Magistracy yesterday with the theft of a jacket and 15 cents, the property of Tsai Fuk, a tailor of 19, Queen's Road West, and $1.31, the property of So Kit, also a tailor, of the same address. He was additionally charged with returning from banishment. On the charges of theft, defendant was sentenced to four months' imprisonment, and on the charge of returning from banishment he received a sentence of ten months.

Before Mr. Wynne-Jones at Kowloon Magistracy yesterday, Lai Pang, 22, unemployed, was sentenced to six months' hard labour for the theft of an overcoat, a dressing case containing a toilet set, clothing, a pair of ear-rings, and other miscellaneous articles valued at $740, from Station House, No. 59 Nathan Road, on May 11. Detective Sub-Inspector L. Wharm stated that defendant came from a respectable family, from whom he was an outcast. His father had at various times found three jobs for him. The family had now definitely washed their hands of him. The complainant was Captain Goding, of Room No. 7, Station House.

SCHUSCHNIGG ANSWERS

Hitler's Allusion To Austria

(Special to the "Hong Kong Daily Press" (Copyright).)

Vienna, May 29

Chancellor Schuschnigg answered Hitler's allusion to Austria in his recent Reichstag speech in a lengthy declaration on home and foreign policy before a specially convoked meeting in the Chamber on Wednesday.

"There is no danger," said Schuschnigg, "that Austria will, as the German Chancellor assumes, feel constrained to construe any internal trouble as due to the influence and interference from outside, and in this connection nothing but astonishment can be expressed at the opinion advanced that the Austrian Government does not enjoy the confidence of the nation since this view is entirely supported by facts."

Referring to his turn to relations with Germany, the speaker declared that the Austrians were unresentful and would gladly grasp the proffered hand of friendship if it could clearly discern it, but the first condition for the return of normal relations between the two countries was unreserved acknowledgment of Austria's right to freely decide her own destiny without influence by factors outside her borders. The Chancellor therefore greeted Hitler's declaration that Germany had no intention of interfering with Austrian affairs, as well as expressed readiness to accede to international agreements with the object of preventing all outside interference in other States. Austria herself was in no way concerned with Germany National-Socialism, but Austrian National-Socialism was the other matter and had no place in new Austria which was avowedly a German State but refrained from putting Germanism and National-Socialism on an equal footing.

Austria has a claim for full equality of rights, affirmed the Chancellor, in referring to the defence force question, and the Government awaits an early accession to the request she has made for the abolition of the restrictive clauses in the Treaty of Trianon, limiting armaments and prohibiting conscription though only Austria herself can decide when as well as how far she will make use of such rights.

The voluntary defence organisations will remain in more strict organised form and the nation's

Brother Epiphany, in civil life Otto Goertler, has been found guilty in six cases of smuggling currency bonds out of Germany.

LIBEL SUIT AGAINST NEWSPAPER

Retired Master Mariner Awarded Damages

The publication of a letter which appeared in the "South China Morning Post" of August 21, 1934 led to a claim in the Supreme Court yesterday brought by Robert Roe Cuthbert, a retired master mariner of Holbow against the "South China Morning Post," its General Manager, Mr. Benjamin Wylie and a third defendant, James MacPartland.

The claim alleged that MacPartland was the author of the letter printed and published by the first and second defendants who, on their own responsibility, put on the heading "And a Warning" which letter was understood to mean that plaintiff by trickery had fraudulently obtained monies for the avowed purpose of developing a mine knowingly and falsely alleged by plaintiff to be rich in high grade ore.

Mr. F. C. Jenkin, K.C., instructed by Mr. D. G. Strellatt, of Geo. K. Hall Brutton, was for the plaintiff, and Mr. Eldon Potter, K.C., instructed by Mr. M. H. Turner, of Deacons, appeared for the defendants.

Plaintiff, who stated that his credit and reputation had been much injured by the publication of the letter and claimed $25,000 as general damages, was awarded $5,000 by the Chief Justice, Mr. Justice A.D.A. MacGregor.

The letter, which appeared in the "South China Morning Post" on August 21, 1934 was as follows:

"Sir—I am wondering how many of your readers have seen 'Micky of the Mines' and with what result. 'Micky of the Mines' as I have christened him, has a wife who claims supernatural power to the extent of being able to communicate with the spirits of the departed, who inform her of coming local events, etc. 'Madame the Medium' and the spirits have told 'Micky' where untold treasures, in the shape of a mine containing high grade minerals, are to be found. 'Micky' has induced several Master Mariners to entrust him with various sums, ranging from $1,000 to $5,000 for the development of the mine."

"Micky has succeeded, during the past two or three years in obtaining some $17,000 for development purposes and might have continued had he not approached a well-known local resident, an old time prospector, who decided to give the El Dorado the 'once over'. It took him 22 days to find out all about it, and his private opinion, the result of his investigations, is the reason for this letter."

"He had the honour of being invited to, and attended one of 'Madame the Medium's' performances and for sheer and transparent 'stiff and nonsense' it can only be matched with 'Micky's' blarneying. Readers should, before being blarneyed, get into touch with the writer."

The letter was signed "Prospector."

It was stated that defendants had offered full retraction of the libel, an ample published apology and $5,000 in settlement of damages which amount was paid into court on May 20.

Judge's Decision

In giving his decision, Mr. Justice A. D. A. MacGregor said the offer of the defendants was communicated to plaintiff, but he decided to take his chance of recovering more than this amount. In the circumstances, his Lordship considered that $5,000 was a fair and proper amount for general damages and he gave judgment accordingly. Plaintiff would recover some $1,800 travelling and witness's expenses between here and Holbow and would be awarded taxed costs up to May 20. The costs of the action since May 20, when the $5,000 was paid in would be met by plaintiff.

Other costs mentioned by plaintiff and which included "loss of business" and "special excavating" to produce ore as evidence in the case, were too remote to come within the claim and would not be granted, said the Judge.

Plaintiff's Case

Counsel stated that plaintiff was 63 years of age with a record of 35 years service in the Far East. He was agent for Messrs. Butterfield & Swire at Holbow, an auctioneer, insurance agent, and an estate and land valuer. "Micky," as he was known, along the coast, moved in the same social plane as the British Consul and the taipans of Holbow.

Plaintiff met an individual who was in straitened circumstances in 1931 who interested him in a mining concession. This was the origin of the case, said Mr. Jenkin. Cuthbert took up the matter and with $17,500 raised from friends, and with a considerable amount of his own money, proceeded with development of the mines. In due course, Cuthbert got MacPartland down to Holbow to survey and look over the mining area and to assist with the scheme. MacPartland later returned to Hong Kong and was at that time owed $146 or so by Cuthbert for his services. He was not paid that money on an occasion when Cuthbert was in Hong Kong, and he also gathered that Cuthbert was going over his head in taking his scheme to Sassoon's hands.

Serious Accusation

Thereupon MacPartland deliberately and most maliciously published a very serious accusation of crime against Mr. Cuthbert, said Counsel. The letter had one meaning only, that meaning, now admitted, being that Mr. Cuthbert was a trickster and fraud.

When Cuthbert came to Hong Kong to follow up the letter, his solicitors wrote to the paper demanding a full withdrawal and apology and the name of the author of the letter. The newspaper replied that as a result of further investigations they stood by what they had published. It was not until May 20 of this year, nine months after the libel, that the defendants admitted that the accusation was wholly untrue and without foundation. They had now offered a complete withdrawal and paid $5,000 into Court.

"I submit that the award should be much higher than that," said Counsel. "In fact, Mr. Cuthbert has turned it down flatly and has refused to entertain any out-of-court settlement under $25,000."

In fact, added Counsel, he would be almost out of pocket, and in any case would get nothing in the way of being recompensed if he accepted $5,000.

Correspondence was then produced and the course of relations between the parties traced.

"Scurrilous Letters"

Mr. Potter objected to the admission of what were later described by Mr. Jenkin as "scurrilous letters" written by MacPartland to Cuthbert after legal negotiation had begun. These letters, Mr. Potter said, could only be tendered in aggravation of the damages.

Mr. Jenkin was reading the letters when his Lordship said it was not necessary to read them. The evidence of Mr. H. Ching, editor of the "South China Morning Post," was given here.

Witness admitted that it was unusual for people to bring in their letters personally, as MacPartland had done. MacPartland treated the letter jocularly but assured him that the statements in the letter were true. Witness did not know who was the object of the letter but he cut out certain parts which seemed to suggest fraud.

Mr. Jenkin: Bearing in mind your last answer I put it to you that the least precaution you could have taken was to ask who was the object of this attack?

Identity of Writer

Witness: I did not ask him who Micky was. If what he said was true, it did not matter who Micky was.

Did you know that the object of this letter was a white man?—Yes.

And in the face of that it did not occur to you to ask who that white man was?—No, I had no curiosity as to who he might be.

And you did not care?—That is rather strong. If the allegations were true, I did not care who he was.

Later witness agreed that if he had been told that Cuthbert was the man Counsel had described, he would probably have thrown the letter into the waste paper basket, but if he had asked as to the identity of Micky, MacPartland would probably have described the Micky he had already described in the letter.

In reply to Mr. Potter, witness said he did not intend the letter

OBITUARY

Miss E. L. Batalha

Deceased, who was the younger daughter of Mrs. E. H. Batalha, was connected with the "Hong Kong Telegraph" and was educated at the Diocesan Girls' School where her elder sister, Miss E. Batalha, is a member of the teaching staff.

The chief mourners at the funeral were Mrs. E. H. Batalha (mother), Mr. Harry Hyndman (uncle), Mrs. Hyndman (grandmother) and Miss E. Batalha (sister).

Others present included Messrs. F. X. Soares, E. Rozario, L. Remedios, A. M. Q. Remedios, Miss D. Leonard, Miss G. Bowen, Miss J. C. M. Rodrigues, Sisters of the Italian Convent, and members of the staff of the "Hong Kong Telegraph" and "South China Morning Post."

By request, no flowers were sent.

WATER RESTRICTIONS

It is officially announced that, as from to-morrow, there will be further restrictions in the water supply throughout all districts on Hong Kong Island.

The revised hours of supply will be from 6 a.m. to 9 a.m., and from 4.30 p.m. to 7.30 p.m.

to be defamatory but as a warning to people against investing in mining enterprise which apparently was based on nothing more substantial than a belief in spiritualism.

Mr. Jenkin added that a Mr. Worrall had given evidence of Plaintiff's social status.

Defence Submissions

Mr. Potter said that the offer of the "South China Morning Post" to make a complete withdrawal of the imputation against Mr. Cuthbert was what was to be expected of a journal of that standing and repute, and in reply to the suggestion of the plaintiff that they had been tardy in making that offer, he would say that it might have been made earlier if they had received the information they might easily have received earlier, Mr. Worrall, he believed was in Hong Kong on such an occasion.

Without offence to the plaintiff, he could say that, knowing all the facts they knew now a very trenchant and strong letter could be written on the subject so long as it did not overstep the limits of libel, and in a case such as this, where the plaintiff had put himself in a position in which he rather asked for criticism, it was a matter which must be taken very seriously into the consideration of the Court when dealing with the question of damages.

Invitation To Plaintiff

The invitation of the defendants to plaintiff to attend a round table conference and come to an understanding was not accepted by plaintiff—as it need not be—but it was evidence of the honest desire of defendants to put right something that was wrong.

In this case the plaintiff's attitude was in no small degree responsible for the libel, for the reason that he was unusually optimistic about the existence of a mine which for a period of years had produced only a few tons of ore. He had had an unusual faith in a mine which, it might be said, had not been properly proved. A prospector of long standing, a hardy man used to travelling in wild places, might well retain the impression which it was intended to suggest in the letter: "Beware of having any dealings in a mine, the apparent foundation of which is a spiritualistic statement." Knowing all the facts, one could still write a very strong letter on the subject so long as one did not suggest that plaintiff did not intend to get money by fraud.

Counsel concluded by repeating that the defendants sincerely regretted the imputation placed on Mr. Cuthbert and honestly desired to clear that imputation. He submitted that, in the circumstances, the amount paid into Court was sufficient to meet the case. It was a substantial amount considering the absence of malice.

RETURN OF THE TWINS

To The Gloucester Lounge

Originality is one of the most coveted assets of modern times and people who are entitled to this description are indeed lucky—such as the famous Twins, Oval and Tine, known the world over as the "Ovaltine" Country Girls.

These young ladies are giving a Demonstration on Saturday, June 1st, in the Lounge of the Hotel Gloucester, from eleven to two in the morning, and from four to seven in the afternoon, lasting for one week. The manufacturers of "Ovaltine" were the first to realize the importance of public demonstrations, though many other concerns have followed in their footsteps. Some like "Ovaltine" mixed with milk, some with water, and some with a combination of milk and water, but there is a special knack in getting just the right proportions to bring out the best flavour of the beverage. And it is because these "Ovaltine" Country Girls want you to know how a real drink tastes when correctly mixed, they have consented to personally prepare for you an order of "Ovaltine" and serve it steam, hot or frosty cold, just as you prefer it.

"Ovaltine," you see, is itself an original product, prepared from malt extract, fresh creamy milk and new-laid eggs. The formula and scientific method of manufacture are exclusively used for this stimulating food beverage. There is no indigestible starch and no household sugar and no quantity of chocolate or cocoa in it.

When correctly prepared—and it is so easy to know the right way—there is no better pick-me-up for that let-down feeling in the morning when early day energy has worn off. The same is true in the afternoon about four o'clock when you feel that it must surely be six! Hot or cold, "Ovaltine" is the constantly delicious all-time drink.

There is just one very important thing to remember, and that is—There are no imitations of "Ovaltine"—as some manufacturers of chocolate beverages are wont to have you believe. Nothing is "just as good" as the original, and the "Ovaltine" Twins, dressed in their attractive "Ovaltine" Country Girl costume, which is already a familiar sight in Hong Kong, would like an opportunity of proving their contention that once you try their way of preparing "Ovaltine" you will become a customer for life.

An apple a day may keep the doctor away, but "Ovaltine" every day is the best way to guarantee energy and vitality, and make health a glowing reality.

IMPERIALISTIC TRADE

In her suggestion to the United States that a triangular trade agreement be made to include herself, the United States and Latin America, Japan has hinted that American exporters are seeking by means, fair and unfair, to undermine her trade in the Latin-American nations. If trade imperialism has displaced the territorial and financial imperialism of the period before the World War and if back of this new form of imperialism are found all the emotions in the older form, the news from Tokyo must be disquieting to those who pray for a warless world.

Japan argues that if she cannot sell to Latin-American nations as much as she has been selling she will be unable to buy the large amounts of American cotton she now imports; and, since trade balances favour it, a sensible solution would be to preserve this triangular trade which is profitable to all parties concerned. But Japan alleges that the anti-Japanese acts of Central and South America have been inspired in North American circles. If so, American businessmen are inviting far more than the losses of sales of cotton to Japan—they are playing directly into the hands of those who want war between Japan and the United States.

In the post-war era, trade has taken the place of colonies. A fight for trade may lead to war even as the scramble for colonies contributed to the outbreak of the World War. But a war to settle the trade rights and privileges of European, Asiatic or North American nations in Latin America will solve nothing at all; making a bad matter worse.

If the accusations made by Japan were correct, American businessmen are guilty of the same activity of which they have bitterly accused their own European competitors in the Latin-American markets. Matters can not be improved if indirect and unfair attacks were made on the trade successes of Japan.

At the present moment there is a tendency of American businessmen to under-estimate the trade advantages of Japan and to impute her increasing success in Latin America to unfair competition. The only decent manner for competing with Japan, even if Japan has used means which may be questioned, is to fight openly and cleanly. Any other method must eventually cause losses greater than are being faced now.

Celebrations In Shanghai

Shanghai, May 25
Strains of national music could be heard coming from the compound of the British Consulate yesterday morning, marking the early arrivals were the Band and Pipes of the Royal Inniskilling Fusiliers, who played until the arrival of the Boy Scout, Sea Scout and Girl Guide troops shortly before eight o'clock for the flag-raising ceremony.

The khaki clad Scout ranks and the blue uniformed Guides with their officers in white, made an impressive picture, as they stood at attention, motionless as soldiers while the Union Jack was hoisted. Most of the consular officials and their families and a large number of other spectators turned up to watch the ceremony. "Rule Britannia" was sung and an inspection of the troops was conducted by Sir John and Lady Brennan accompanied by Mr. A. D. Blackburn, Mr. A. H. Gordon, Assistant Scout Commissioner, and Mrs. L. B. S. Golds, District Commissioner of the Girl Guides Association.

The Scout and Guide organizations then enjoyed an alfresco breakfast on the Cathedral lawn, the arrangements for which were in the hands of the United Services Association. The Band and Pipes of the Royal Inniskilling Fusiliers provided music throughout the meal.

A special service in the Cathedral followed breakfast on the lawn outside. The youthful congregation responded most heartily to the hymns and form of service, which had been attractively printed and distributed.

Throughout the day flag-selling in aid of the Fund for Limbless Soldiers and Sailors was carried on in all the busier streets of the city. Judging from the number of people with decorated lapels the takings must have been good.

ROYAL CALEDONIAN BALL

To Be Held On May 31

(Special Air Mail Service)

London, May 14.

The Royal Caledonian Ball, in aid of the funds of the Royal Scottish Corporation and the Royal Caledonian Schools, will be held in the new ballroom at Grosvenor House on May 31. Some 2,000 guests are expected to attend. Of the 20 dances, four will be eight-some reels and three Scottish country dances.

The ball will be preceded by a display of piping and dancing by the boys and girls of the Royal Caledonian Schools, and at 10 o'clock the pipers and drummers of the 1st Battalion Scots Guards will lead a processional march of sets of reels. The set reels will consist of three sixteensomes and eight eightsomes, danced by ladies and gentlemen of the Atholl Highlanders, the Highland regiments and the London Scottish. The majority of this year's debutantes of Scottish descent will be included in the set reels. The ball will again be under the direct supervision of the Duke and Duchess of Atholl.

Colour at the Ball

The Ball in London is one of the season's events which invariably attracts a large number of foreigners by reason of the colourful spectacle presented. The Jubilee dance on May 21 will be a particularly bright affair. The ball has the character of a semi-cohort function, and gentlemen in ordinary evening are not admitted. Their choice of apparel is restricted to full-dress uniform, mess dress, Highland Court, or hunting dress, or coloured facings on evening dress coats.

SOVIET STRENGTH STRESSED

Nanking, May 30.
A statement that the Soviet is one of the strongest Powers in the world, economically, politically and militarily, was made by M. Bogolomoff in an address to the Rotary Club. He said that the Soviet made no secret that it was strengthening its borders. Had it not done so war might have broken out some time ago.

The Soviet Ambassador emphasised that the foreign policy of his country was based on peace. He regretted that no non-aggression pact had been concluded in the Far East.

STRAIGHT FROM THE SHOULDER

BY NO QUARTER

(JUBILEE NUMBER)

Exactly one year ago to-day a new star blossomed, if stars can be said to blossom.—a new comet climbed into the literary firmament. I refer, as usual, to myself. Friends, on this the occasion of my Pattee Jubilee, I feel overcome by the importance of the occasion. Three hundred and sixty-five days ago to-day,—but I fancy I have said all this before. Let me end the matter by saying without further truck or ado that on June 1st 1934, No Quarter published his first "Straight from the shoulder" article, and set the world by the ears in his quest for truth at any price.

I cannot resist giving, a short resume of the year's events.

June 8th.—Mrs. Marina starts colony purity campaign.

July 6th.—Dr. Axel Aufgang sponsors "Eat nuts or go nuts" movement.

August 17th.—Dr. Otto Bortsch's performance of his own "Symphony in Z Minor" on the Bavarian Bassoon.

September 21st.—Discovery of Shakespearean manuscript in Peak House.

October 12th.—Busy Bees Jam-boree

November 23rd.—Empress of Liberia visits sardine factories at Sheko.

December 25th.—Christmas Day.

But this is not really fair. I could go on like this all day: May I simply bid you and myself a happy birthday, and hope that a few of you have enjoyed reading this article as much as I have enjoyed writing it.

IN PASSING

I feel I must quote a recent headline from a local newspaper, which was devastating in its concise criticism. It read:—

"Eggs and Piracy: Home view of Chinese Situation."

THIS MONEY RACKET

There seems to be a good deal of doubt, even in the most authoritative circles as to what is the correct attitude to take up in the matter of world finance. The whole problem seems so transparently simple to me that I feel I will be denying my readers a great privilege and advantage if I do not give them the benefit of my views. I will outline my policy very briefly.

1. A logical re-construction of currency values whereby a semi-gold parity is obtained without resort to gold-bloc stimulation.

2. Re-habilitation of commodity prices to meet the demand for higher wages and lower prices.

3. Exploration of all avenues whereby a firm understanding may be reached.

4. Free drinks for all.

I think no-one will venture to disagree that if these four principles were rigidly adhered to, the World would be no worse off than it is at present.

After you, Mr. Morgenthau. Anything you say is swell.

Shanghai, May 21.

Mr. Wang Tze Yuan, general secretary of the Central Overseas Affairs Commission arrived here yesterday from Nanking to confer with local leading Chinese merchants concerning the retaliatory measures recently they proposed against Siam for the alleged anti-Chinese attitude taken by the Siamese Government.

At a Press interview Mr. Wang expressed his wish to see the Siamese representative, who is expected to arrive here soon to sound Chinese feeling in the matter. Mr. Wang said that anti-Chinese feeling is running high in Siam and that the Overseas Affairs Commission had received many reports on the subject from residents in that country.

A meeting under the auspices of the Chinese Overseas Association will be held in the Chinese Chamber of Commerce on Saturday, May 25, when representatives or various public organizations and patriotic bodies, including some from South China, will attend. CHINESE APPRENTICES

FRENCH DEBATE ON PLENARY POWERS

Excited Atmosphere In The Chamber

Paris, May 30.

Premier Flandin's prospects of winning his points are improved owing to the failure at the meeting this morning of the Left political groups to form a Radical coalition government including the Socialists. In consequence the Radicals, which is the key party, will be more inclined to vote for M. Flandin. In any case, following a strong speech by M. Herriot, they decided by 36 votes to 21 not to condemn M. Flandin before hearing his speech in the Chamber.

Meanwhile it is estimated that the total withdrawal of gold from the Bank of France is £70 millions in six days—Reuter.

(Special to the "Hong Kong Daily Press")
(By Telegraph, Copyright, Telegraphic Messages Ordinance, 1894. Received, May 30, 7:30 p.m.)

Paris, May 30.
Flandin's position depends on Thursday forenoon's meeting of all the Left Wing groups of the Chamber which, according to well-informed quarters, will discuss the proposal of the Socialist groups that all Republican groups excluding the Right Wing should unite. The attitude of the Radical Socialists is not yet quite clear but their delegates in the Chamber's Finance Commission, who on Wednesday voted against granting special powers to the Government, expressly stress that they are not opposed on principle to the granting of special powers to the Government but are not willing to grant such powers to Flandin's Cabinet.

Fifteen deputies have already announced their intention to take part in the decisive debate on Thursday afternoon in the course of which M. Herriot will intervene on behalf of the government in a speech which the government circles hope will rally the majority of the Radical Socialists to the support of the Cabinet. Flandin will close the debate by a final appeal to the Chamber to grant the Cabinet special powers which he deems necessary to save the country from financial chaos—Transocean Kuo Min.

BILL REJECTED

Paris, May 29.
The French Government's empowering Bill was rejected by the Finance Committee in the chamber on Wednesday, by 25 votes to 15 with an abstention, despite Flandin's personal participation in the deliberations when the Premier once more stressed the vital necessity of the Government being accorded full powers to deal with the critical situation.

In view of Flandin's statement that, whatever their decision, he has determined to provoke the Chamber for a decision on Thursday, the committee's verdict has produced a big sensation among the deputies.

DEBATE OPENS

Paris, May 30.

The Chamber was packed and there was wild excitement when the crucial debate over the Government's plenary powers Bill began at 3 p.m. M. Barety, Rapporteur of the Finance Commission, said that France's economic activity was stationary and even weakening. He estimated the budgetary deficit was seven milliards francs and the Treasury only had six milliards at its disposal until the end of 1935. M. Barety opined that technical measures taken by the Bank of France to defend the franc would be only fully efficacious if reinforced by Frenchmen's confidence in the franc—Reuter.

The key to the situation can be now said to be in the hands of the Radical Socialists, and no definite opinion on the situation can be formed till the attitude is known of the Radical Socialists—Transocean Kuo Min.

A SEVERE BLOW

Paris, May 29.
The Finance Commission in the Chamber voted by 25 to 15 against the Plenary Power Bill. The Finance Commission's rejection of the Bill is a severe blow to the Government. The decision was arrived at after hearing the Finance Minister, M. Germain-Martin, who declined to commit the Government beyond giving the assurance that there would be no reduction in the pensions of ex-servicemen and salaries of the low-paid civil servants.

The Commission, however, was unanimous in favour of prosecuting franc speculators. Everything now depends on the impression Flandin can make on the Chamber to-morrow, as the Premier is determined to proceed with the Bill and leave the Chamber the onus of deciding for or against the maintenance of the franc at the present gold rate—Reuter.

THE BATTLE OF JUTLAND

Celebration In Germany

(Special to the "Hong Kong Daily Press")

(By Telegraph, Copyright, Telegraphic Messages Ordinance, 1894. Received, May 30, 7:30 p.m.)

Berlin, May 30.

The occasion of the 19th anniversary of the battle of Jutland was celebrated by order of the Police Prefect in order to perpetuate the memory of the three men who together with Admiral Von Tirpitz had been mainly instrumental in building up the old Imperial Navy.

Two streets will henceforth be known as "Admiral Von Koester Quay" and "Admiral Prince Henry Street" while the former Von der Heydt bridge will be rechristened "Admiral Von Holtzendorff bridge." Von Koester was the first German "gross admiral" that is "admiral of the fleet," being succeeded in 1906 by the late Prince Henry of Prussia "ex-Kaiser's only brother" who in turn was replaced by Von Holtzendorff who was promoted to the admiralty staff during the Great War.

At the same time the Police Prefect ordered that two well-known western streets be renamed "Kluckstrasse" and "Woyrschstrasse" in memory of the two famous German army leaders in the great war. General von Kluck commanded the first German army which at the beginning of the war menaced Paris, while General von Woyrsch distinguished himself on the eastern front, notably Southern Poland, being rewarded for his services by the promotion to the rank of field marshal—Transocean Kuo Min.

NEW WAY OF CROSSING CHANNEL

Amphibian Motor Car Experiment

(Special to the "Hong Kong Daily Press")

(By Telegraph, Copyright, Telegraphic Messages Ordinance, 1894. Received, May 30, 7:30 p.m.)

Dover, May 30.

The English Channel for the first time has been crossed in an amphibian motor car, the German sportsman Jacob Baugl who as previously reported had started on Wednesday from Calais in a hydro-motor car of his own construction, having safely arrived at Dover, where a big crowd quickly assembled on the quay when a strange vehicle hove in sight. Baugl needed eight hours twenty minutes to cross the Channel, which is about two and a half hours faster than the existing record for swimming across the channel.

The body of Baugl's successful amphibian motor car is constructed entirely of steel with the engine and other vital parts enclosed in a watertight compartment. The vehicle which is equipped with a small motor averages about 20 miles on land and five miles on water—Transocean Kuo Min.

CHINESE AUTHORITIES ALARMED

Kwangtung Army's Stern Demands

Shanghai, May 30.

The Chinese authorities are deeply concerned at the danger of renewed Japanese military activities in North China following the presentation of more than ten demands by the Kwangtung Army, including the abolition of Kuomintang headquarters in North China, the dismissal of General Yu Hsueh Chun, Governor of Hopei, and cessation of all anti-Japanese activities.

A warning is given that failing the carrying out of these demands the demilitarised zone will forcibly be extended to include the Peking and Tientsin areas.

The demands stress the recent murders of two Chinese publishers in the Japanese concession in Tientsin and other "terrorist acts" and other alleged Chinese violations of the Tangku Treaty, including assistance given to volunteers for movements against the Japanese.

The Japanese action has shocked Chinese opinion in view of the recent elevation of the Legations. Negotiations are going on between the Kwangtung Army headquarters and General Ho Ying Ching, the Chinese Minister for War, but it is feared in certain circles that Japanese militarists are determined to find a pretext to stir up trouble in order to embarrass Sino-Japanese relations—Reuter.

TIENTSIN TENSION

Tientsin, May 30.

A very tense situation has been created to-day when more than a hundred Japanese soldiers assembled outside the Governor's yamen with two armoured cars and one tank and armed rifles on the eve of the transfer of the Hopei Provincial Government to Paoing—Reuter.

After moving about the outer courts of the yamen for one hour, the Japanese soldiers dispersed without any incident.

BLANK SHOTS FIRED

A further demonstration by the Japanese was reported this afternoon when Japanese troops are said to have mounted a trench mortar on the roof of a Chinese house near Peking University and fired six blank shots.

The refusal of General Yu Hsueh Chung, the Hopei Governor, to remove from office the magistrate at Tsunhuwa following the demilitarised zone fighting against the bandits is believed to be the cause of the demonstrations, according to official Chinese quarters—Reuter.

LAWN BOWLS
NOTESReview Of Last Week's Matches

(BY "F.H.")

The Lawn Bowls League contests in both divisions are still being fought out neck to neck for the premier positions especially in the Senior League where Craigenower "A" and the Recreio have both won five games without any setback.

Craigenower "A" will be having a rest this week and their strong challenger Recreio will be pitted against Kowloon Cricket Club.

Craigenower in their 33 shots victory over the Indians last week was in no way extended, in fact were it not for the shower and the tricky greens a much more heavier defeat would have been suffered by the Indians.

FLASH IN THE PAN?

The Indians started off the season very promisingly by their one shot victory over the Bowling Green. Could this be just a flash in the pan? They have lost every match since then although they have tried out many new skips.

I would suggest, however, that the policy of shuffling and reshuffling the team be done away with and just carry on with the original selections for after all "Rome was not built in a day" and to attempt to beat the more formidable teams who have more experience and ability behind them.

They have still to find a skip for the third rink and all their No. 3 have been tested with but the exception of M. Y. Adal. Why not give him a trial and once and for all the right man may be found?

Coming back to last Saturday's game Dallah's unbeaten record, and incidentally the pride of I.R.C.'s rink went down most heavily to the Craigenower. They found Bradbury and his men in deadly form and were always up against a brainier skip.

Versus C.S.C.C.

This week the Indians are up against the lowly-placed C.S.C.C. team. Would it be possible for the Civil servants to register their first win of the season? I shouldn't see why not. A great asset with the Civil servants by being the home team and furthermore by their policy of playing new combinations every now and then do not in the least help matters with the Indians.

Recreio's Close Call

Although winning by nine shots against Craigenower second string, Recreio, the strong contenders for the premier honours, did not have matters all their way, in fact they were given a fright when at one period the Valley lads had as much of the game as they. One feature of the game was the draw forced by C. S. Rosset's four against their strongest pair and by the way in which C. G. Silva's skip record was sent down to second place.

Their apparent weakest rink turned the tables, completely on the others by returning the highest win by a margin of six shots. Alves skipped well on that day and received admirable support from C. Marques.

K.C.C.'s Chances

They will be visiting their neighbour the Kowloon Cricket Club on Saturday and from the looks of things they are destined for another victory unless the Cricket Club owing to a reshuffling of their rinks should retain their confidence.

Silkstone is going No. 1 to Hyde Lay, Phillips taking Silkstone place as skip with Fincher as his No. 3. The team is as under:—
Silkstone, Graig, Bebbington, Hyde Lay, Gitting, Goodwin, Tatchi, Fraser, Brown, Kern, Fincher, Phillips.

The K.C.C. on paper have quite a strong team but something is lacking and unless they pull together I cannot see them winning very many matches. In the mood they are capable of beating any team in the league.

Other Teams

Craigenower "B" although not quite formidable on paper can be relied to put up a good fight and their encounter with the Bowling Green this week ought to provide them with an impetus to draw level at least on points against the mainland Club. They are at present two points behind and should they win they will in all probability go up one position higher. Bowling Green had quite an easy victory over C.S.C.C. last week and as they are playing at home, which is a great advantage, they should not in the least be perturbed by their opponents' pertinacity.

SEVENTH EXTRA RACE
MEETINGChampion Jockey May

DAILY DOUBLE PROBLEM

(RACING NOTES BY TATTENHAM)

Chief interest will centre in the Juling Stakes and the "Daily Double" at the Seventh Extra to-morrow, the last meeting of the first half year.

On account of the special dollar sweep run on this non-winning "Sub" Race and the fact that no one succeeded in winning the "Double" at the Sixth Extra Race Meeting, the whole pool amounting to $2,692 will be carried forward and a good dividend is assured.

Leo Frost may not ride owing to pressure of business.

Probable starters in the opening event The Beaufort Handicap. One Mile, are Clear View (Liang-153 lbs.) Diogenes (P. P. Botelho-152 lbs.) Flybnight (Frost-163 lbs.) Popular Star (Pih-150 lbs.) and Twenty Grand (Black-145 lbs.) plus a 7 lbs. penalty incurred for winning at Macao. I thought Clear View a trifle unlucky when beaten by Soldier of Peace at the last meeting and expect to see him go very close. Twenty Grand ran a great race at Macao last Sunday and with Donald Black may repeat that performance. Flybnight ridden by Frost should get a place. Popular Star is a good outside bet.

Shooting Star (Pih-152 lbs.) Derby Day (Proulx-152 lbs.) Saucy Face (Butler-155 lbs.) Bobniak Star (Frost-163 lbs.) are the pick of the entrants in the Bondi Handicap. Six Furlongs. The distance will suit both Derby Day and Saucy Face and I expect to see the latter win.

DUAL BETTING

The Jubilee Plate, 14 Miles, should develop into a dual betting race between The Dynasty and the Hem Stables. Hetman (Butler-156 lbs.) King's Warden (Frost-157 lbs.) Gladiator (154 lbs.) Macaroni (Black-156 lbs.) Sadko (Dietz-159 lbs.) and Victoria Hall (Rosa-155 lbs.) are likely starters. Victoria Hall appears outclassed. Gladiator King's Warden and Sadko should provide a fine race with King's Warden just winning from Gladiator.

Prominent starters in the Lantau Handicap, "C" Class, 6 Furlongs are Bright Star (Liang-157 lbs.) Daylight Eye (149 lbs.) Don (Dietz-155 lbs.) Monoplane (168 lbs.) and Valorous (Pan-152 lbs.).

Should the course be on the heavy side Monoplane in spite of Another evenly contested game should be seen on the Police green where the guardians of the law play the Kowloon Dock. On form I fancy the latter, but playing at home is a great asset and as "twis is also a game of fluctuation of chance" anything might happen. The latest I hear is that many of their stalwarts will be unable to get away owing to pressure of work, which makes the victory of the Police much easier.

The Juniors

Bowling Green junior is still two points ahead of their nearest rivals, the Recreio. Both should have easy hurdles to surmount this week and especially the leaders who are pitted against the Yacht Club, the lowest placed team. Recreio too, should encounter little difficulty in overcoming the K.C.C. juniors. Police, C.C.C. and the Electrics should also win.

I.R.C. v. C.S.C.C.

The following will represent the I.R.C. in their League game against Civil Service on the C.S.C.C. ground:—
M. R. Abbas, M. el Arculli, A. M. Wahab, A. R. Mhu (Skip), D. M. Khan, S. O. Bux, M. Y. Adal, A. O. Madar (Skip), A. H. Ramjahn, S. M. Rumjahn, M. I. Razack, A. R. Dallah (Skip), C.S.C.C.

The following will represent the Civil Service Cricket Club in their lawn bowls league games against the Indian R.C. and H.K. Electric, respectively, on Saturday:—

Senior Team

H. Major, J. F. McGowan, A. O. Brown, A. W. Grimmit (skip), E. W. Stimmonds, J. Purvis, J. Deakin, and P. J. Jones (skip).

P. E. Knight, S. E. Alderman, S. Eccleshall, and J. Hollidge (skip).

Junior Team

J. Gellatley, W. Burling, H. West-Jake, and H. Westlake Sr. (skip), C. Champelovier, M. Purvis, T. Armstrong, and C. Strange (skip), B. Williams, E. W. Hamilton, L. Whant, and R. R. Davies (skip).

K.C.C.C.

The following have been selected to represent the Kowloon Bowling his 168 lbs., will be very dangerous. Daylight Eye a very fit pony, would prefer a longer race. Gold Collar (Rosa) should be prominent at the finish.

FIRST LEG

The Lama Handicap, "D" Class, One Mile is the first leg of the Double and is bound to arouse great interest. Pride of Tsingtao (Black-160 lbs.) What a Chance (Frost-168 lbs.) Boxing Eve (161 lbs.) Warrington (157 lbs.) and Limelight (Pih-153 lbs.) are ponies that should be concerned with the finish. Pride of Tsingtao has been reserved for this race, and Chief opposition should come from What a Chance and Limelight.

The smallest field of the day will probably face the starter in the Muntz Handicap. Six Furlongs. Just That (Frost-162 lbs.) Night Star (Pih-159 lbs.) Alacrity (Black-140 lbs.) and Empire Day (Davies-135 lbs.) are the most prominent starters here. I expect to see Night Star win from Just That and Empire Day.

OPEN EVENT

The Juling Stakes, Six Furlongs, in my opinion is the most open event of the day. Ponies with a glimpse of form have been given colossal weights to carry and in a slowly run race most anything could win. Forgemaster (Pih-158 lbs.) High West (Frost-165 lbs.) The Deemster (Liang-155 lbs.) and Beghner's Luck (P. P. Botelho-162 lbs.) appear to be the best of this moderate lot and I expect to see one of the above win.

Great Hall (Rosa-168 lbs.) appears to have an outstanding chance in the last event on the card, The Crocodile Handicap. One Mile. Double Chance (Frost) and Lucky Strike are a couple that should extend him. Valley View appears as a good outside bet.

Green Club Senior and Junior rinks, respectively, against the Craigenower "B" team and the Yacht Club, on Saturday:—

Senior Team

A. S. Russell, J. Watson, J. Budding and L. Guy (skip), P. Farrell, J. Teley, J. C. Brown and A. M. Holland (skip), H. Nish, V. Petherick, J. G. Meyer and W. S. Drake (skip).

Junior Team

B. Rodgers, D. Waterton, M. J. Henderson and G. Sherriff (skip), S. Bright, L. A. R. Duncan, J. G. Charlton and G. E. F. Thompson (skip), G. Chambers, W. E. Hale, C. Hosking and H. Rose (skip).

TEAMS FOR SATURDAY

The following will represent the Craigenower C.C. in their senior lawn bowls game against the Hong Kong Bowling Green Club on the latter's green on Saturday:—
G. Duncan, W. Brightman, W. Gill, E. el Arculli (Skip), G. L. Buchanan, A. Coelho, M. A. R. Souza, C. S. Rosset (Skip), J. S. Soares, M. J. Medina, W. Field, J. Cavanagh (Skip).

The following will represent the Craigenower C.C. in their second division match against the Hong Kong Football Club on the latter's ground:—
J. Leonard, W. English, Y. Abbas, W. Way (Skip), W. Atkins, W. Phelps, A. Kitchell, W. Ward (Skip), Dr. Karanjia, H. W. Randall, L. C. R. Souza, Dr. Fernando (Skip).

OPEN PAIRS

In the Open Pairs yesterday afternoon at the Kowloon Dock Recreation Club A. W. Grimmit and F. J. Jones defeated L. F. Xavier and F. N. N. Ribeiro comfortably by 28 shots to 10.

HOME CRICKET

Notes From Fields

(Special Air Mail Service)

London, May 14.

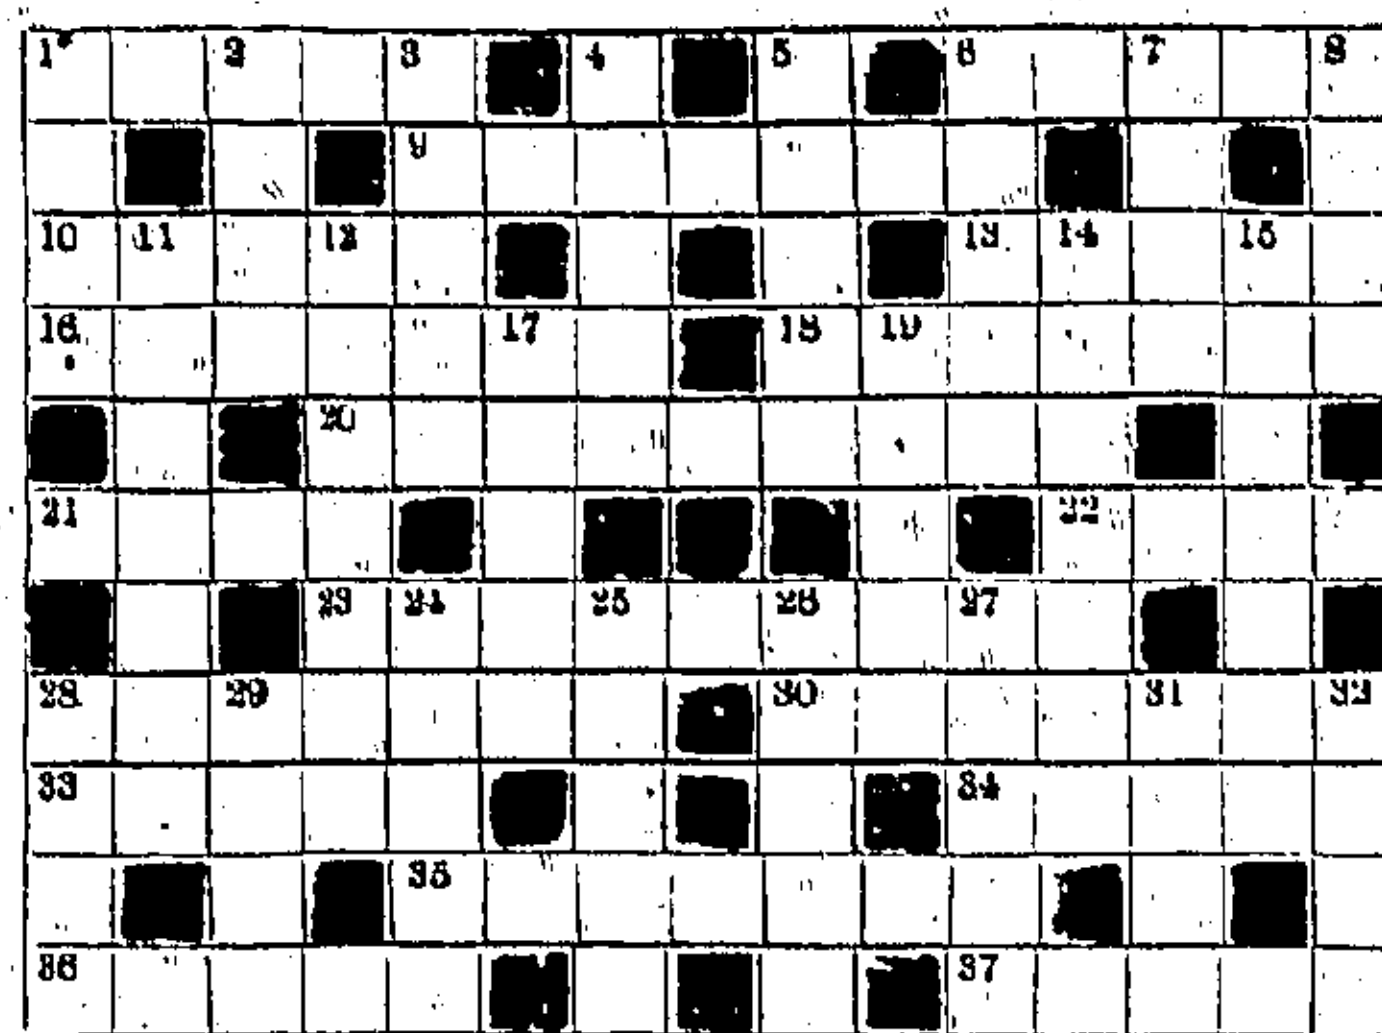

Even cricket went gay for the Jubilee yesterday. Middlesex and Worcester each completed an innings at Lord's, Worcester half-finished their second. Twenty-five wickets down in one day! At least we have something for which to thank those leather jackets.

Sussex and Leicester also joined in a procession at Leicester. Sussex out for 86, Leicester, 190. Sussex 14 for one. Top scorer, Prentice, Leicester newcomer, with 41.

George Geary, evergreen Leicester bowler, was the Sussex bogymen. Five wickets for 24 runs. Smith's express deliveries did the rest. Four for 32.

The Sussex opening batsmen, John Langridge and James Parks, were both out l.b.w. under the new rule.

HONG KONG POLO CLUB

Loss Of $1318 Reported

SIR THOMAS SOUTHOORN ELECTED PRESIDENT

A debit balance of $1,318.87 was reported at the annual general meeting of the Hong Kong Polo Club held last evening at the Board Room of Messrs. Jardine Matheson and Co., and presided over by Brigadier H. G. Seth Smith.

In the course of the meeting Mr. H. C. Macnamara queried whether the ground which is to be lent to the military authorities for other forms of sports is to be kept in good condition after play. It was stated that the arrangements made were that repairs to the ground should be effected if so caused by them and, wherever possible, precautions should be taken by using mats for cricket.

The question of the forthcoming Interport game with Shanghai was also discussed and it was decided to leave the matter to the incoming committee.

Increase In Membership

CHAIRMAN'S SPEECH

Addressing the meeting, the Chairman said:

An examination of the income and expenditure shows that we have again to record a loss, in this case amounting to $1,318.87, in comparison with $819.95 for the previous year. This may be attributed in part to an increase in our expenses of $145.22 of which $100 arises from the necessity of writing off the amount shown in last year's balance sheet against the Club's pavilion at Causeway Bay, which has now been handed to the R.N.R.C. This, plus Interport expenses on the occasion of the Shanghai team's visit, plus small increases in the course of upkeep and wages, has more than offset the considerable saving shown under general expenses. The reduction in income amounted to $553.70.

It is to be hoped that some improvement on these figures may be registered in the current year for, as predicted at our last annual meeting, the transfer to the Club's new ground in Kowloon has involved a considerable outlay on stables cow sheds, tool house, maffos' quarters, purchase of gear, etc., which has proved a heavy drain on available cash resources.

PRESENT POSITION

The position to-day is: we owe the contractor $546 against which we have available $429. This should be adjusted without difficulty, however, from income to be derived from members for stall rent, subscription, etc. now that play has commenced, but it will be essential to curtail all unnecessary expenditure until the Club is in a more satisfactory position.

A part of the $3,000 shown in the balance sheet as reserve for repairs to the ground has been employed to reduce the book value of capital expenditure recently incurred on buildings and equipment as no heavy repairs to the new ground should be necessary for some time to come.

As a means of improving the Club's financial position your Committee has offered the use of the ground and pavilion to the Army Area Sports Board during four winter months to be used solely for cricket and rugby football. The terms suggested are equally advantageous to both parties and involved the return of the ground to us in good repair before polo commences. We have the assurance of the Government that any such action on our part will in no way prejudice this Club's prior claims to the use of the ground for polo at any future date.

PAST SEASON.

The main feature of last season was the Interport match with Shanghai for the Keswick Cup which was played in Hong Kong on September 30 and resulted in a comfortable for the visiting team by seven goals to two. Owing to unsettled weather, the day arranged for this game had to be altered to a Sunday at very short notice which robbed many of our supporters of the opportunity of being present although, as large a number as possible were advised of the change or plans in the short time available after the decision to play without further delay had been made.

The main tournament of the year was the open event for the K.O.Y.L.I. Cup and considerable excitement was provided by the Royal Artillery who scored an unexpected and convincing victory over the South Wales Borderers who, up till that time, had been considered as likely winners of this Cup.

The final between the Royal Artillery and Civilians resulted in a very close game with the score 5-5 until extra time had been played when the deciding goal gave the match to the civilians.

Interesting games were also played to decide the holders of the Lady Stubbs and Royal Navy Cups, the eventual winners being Mr. Blackden's team and the South Wales Borderers respectively.

With the departure of the South Wales Borderers we lost some of our keenest players and the valuable services of Capt. J. Jordan as Hon. Secretary, but we are pleased to be able to welcome the arrival of another keen polo regiment in the Royal Welch Fusiliers. It is also pleasing to note that the civilian playing membership shows a small increase and with the excellent ground now at our disposal there is every prospect of a thoroughly enjoyable season with keen competition for all tournaments.

It is hoped that by decentralisation more attention can be given to the different branches of the Club's activities and for this reason it has been thought advisable to appoint in addition to the Hon. Secretary a field manager to arrange the day's chukkers, and an officer in charge of handicaps and tournament events. These last duties are at present being performed by Lieut. G. B. Portman, R.A. and Capt. Shannon respectively and I hope will enable members to get the best use of the Club.

It is very satisfactory to note that the many difficulties attendant upon the transfer to our new quarters in Boundary Road have been in most cases satisfactorily overcome and there is every reason to hope for a successful season.

Mr. W. L. Stanton, second the Chairman's proposal to adopt the Report and Statement of Accounts, which were passed unanimously.

NEW OFFICERS

It was announced by the Chairman that His Excellency the Officer Administering the Government had agreed to become President of the Club.

The following were elected office bearers for the current year: President—H. E. the O.A.G. Sir Thomas Southorn.

Chairman—H. E. Major General O.C. Borrett.

CANTON INSURANCE CENTENARY

Celebrations In Shanghai

Shanghai, May 25.

The present emptiness of the exceedingly spacious premises of what soon will be the Mercantile Bank of India was turned to good account yesterday morning for the celebration of the Centenary of the Canton Insurance Society of Canton. The gathering was representative of commerce in Shanghai. Old China hands and others aspiring to that honourable title were present to do honour to the oldest of them all.

Sir John Brenan was present, and after Mr. L. E. Chaning, the senior member of the Shanghai

LESLIE FOUND

NOT GUILTY

On Charges Of Fraud

Shanghai, May 25.

A verdict of "not guilty" on the three charges of fraud preferred against Alexander Leslie, aged 45, a book-keeper, lately in the employ of the International Recreation Club, was returned yesterday by a jury in H.M. Supreme Court, whereupon Judge A. G. Mossop immediately discharged him from custody. The accused had been represented by Mr. Raifald McDonald, while Mr. Victor Priestwood, the Crown Advocate, conducted the prosecution. Anticipating the conclusion of the case, there was a big attendance of interested members of the general public when the Judge commenced his summing-up which he did in great detail, speaking for two hours.

In the course of his remarks on the evidence, the Judge said: "Mr. Leslie has stated that, under his supervision, the bridge parties became extremely popular. Well, if the practice had grown up of paying winners, without collecting from losers, probably it did become popular. I should be surprised if it didn't!"

Addressing the jury, his lordship propounded the following questions:—

1—Was the accused, between January 1 and January 18, 1935, a clerk or servant to the International Recreation Club?

2—Did the balance sheet, referred to in the first charge, belong to the International Recreation Club?

3—Did the accused, between January 1 and January 18, 1935, make the entry in that balance sheet in respect of the sum charged?

4—Was that entry in respect of the sum charged an incorrect entry?

5—If the answers to the above questions 1 to 4 are all in the affirmative, did the accused so make that incorrect entry willfully and with intent to defraud?

"So," proceeded his lordship, "it comes to this:—If you answer all those questions 1 to 5 in the affirmative, your verdict would be one of guilty. On the other hand, if you answer any of those five questions in the negative, your verdict must be one of not guilty. That is in respect of each separate charge."

THE VERDICT

The jury retired, and after an absence of 35 minutes, returned with a unanimous verdict of not guilty upon each charge, whereupon Mr. Leslie immediately was discharged from custody, while the jury were exempted, upon order of the Judge, from any further service on a jury for a period of three years.

BIRTHDAY OF THE KING

Shanghai's Parade Programme

Shanghai, May 23.

The birthday of His Majesty King George V on June 3 will be marked in Shanghai by a parade in the morning at Polo Ground on the Race Course by the 1st Battalion the Royal Inniskilling Fusiliers. The salute will be taken by Maj.-Gen. O. C. Borrett, Officer Commanding the British Troops in China.

The Inniskilling Fusiliers, under the command of Lt.-Col. N. F. Hammond-Smith, will be formed up in line in the field of parade in the Recreation Ground at 7.45 a.m. in readiness to receive the inspecting officer.

Maj.-Gen. O. C. Borrett will be received by Brig. F. S. Thackeray, Officer in Command of British Troops, Shanghai Area, and his staff. The Union Jack will be broken at the saluting base at precisely 8 a.m. when Maj.-Gen. Borrett and his staff will arrive on parade and be received with a General Salute. Maj.-Gen. Borrett, accompanied by Brig. Thackeray and their staffs will then inspect the parade. On concluding their inspection they will take up positions at the saluting base.

The Royal Inniskilling Fusiliers will then move off to the passing line in preparation for the March Past. This will be done by companies, after which they will return in close column and form up again in line facing the saluting base.

The ceremony will now develop its most interesting phase from the spectators' point of view. The general public will be permitted to watch from an area to the right flank of the parade, an area on the left flank being specially reserved for S.V.C. officers who will be in uniform, their friends and others, privileged by invitation. The saluting base and flagstaff will be some distance in front of a match and in that area members of the S.M.C. and officials and other distinguished guests will be assembled to view the ceremony.

Royal Salute

With the parade again in line at the slope and facing the saluting base, Maj.-Gen. Borrett and his staff, will then take up their positions which will be facing the flagstaff. The Officer Commanding the Inniskilling will then give the word of command, "Royal Salute, Present Arms." The Royal Standard will then be broken.

Lt.-Col. Hammond-Smith will then bring the parade to the slope and to the order, the G.O.C. and Brigadier and their staffs remaining in their positions. The "Fou-de-Joi" will then be fired. Following the command to unload and order arms by Lt.-Col. Hammond-Smith, he will give the order to "Remove Headdress" and lead in "Three Cheers for H. M. the King." This enthusiasm over, Lt.-Col. Hammond-Smith will give the command to fix bayonets and slope arms and again give the order for the Royal Salute.

The Royal Standard will then be lowered and the General Officer Commanding, accompanied by the Brigadier and their staffs, will take up positions on the saluting base facing the line. Here he will leave the salute as the battalion leaves the parade past the saluting base in column of four.
